

NEWS SINCE MIDNIGHT.

[Under this heading are printed the very latest exclusive dispatches, being the cream of the war news in the New York morning newspapers of today, which is wired from that city about 5 a.m., reaching The Los Angeles Times about 2 a.m.]

WEYLER GROWS BOLDER.

His HENCHMEN ARE COQUETING WITH THE CARLISTS.

Backed Up by Robledo, the Butcher Is Trying to Frighten the Queen and Her Court into Confining the Reins of Government to Them.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, July 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The World's Madrid special says matters are going from bad to worse for the dynasty. Despite the state of siege proclaimed throughout the whole kingdom, the authorities dare not stop the press campaign against the Queen Regent and her Ministers. They do not feel certain of the support of the army in the case of a popular uprising such as would be likely to follow excessive repression.

Gen. Weyler and Señor Robledo are taking the lead in the agitation, hoping that the Queen and her court will be frightened into confining the reins of government to them, without caring to inquire whether, behind their small following of political and military adventurers, the Carlists and Republicans may not rush in for part of the spoils. Many Spaniards believe that Weyler is determined to join the Carlists. Some of his friends in the army have been coquetting with leading Carlists, and the Marquis of Cerralbo, Mella, and Cervera are frequent visitors at Weyler's house. The increasing boldness of the revolutionaries is simply due to the fact that the government is drifting along, without statesmen or generals capable of carrying out resolutely a peace policy on sensible grounds.

The nation would bow were it plainly shown that its fleets had been destroyed and made powerless; that its armies are on the eve of being obliged to surrender for lack of provisions, ammunition, and communication with the mother country; that the state treasury is empty, and Spain's credit is so impaired that money can be borrowed only by makeshifts previously contrived for the future, and lastly that there is no hope of practical assistance from Europe.

PRINCE HENRY WILL DO IT. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, July 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A World special from London says: "The Outlook, a new weekly paper of Imperialist policy, will make tomorrow the following statement concerning Germany's plans in the Philippines: 'A decision to seize one of the Philippine Islands has been arrived at already in Berlin. Precisely which island, and on precisely what day awaits only the arrival at Manila of Prince Henry. At most, it is merely a question of weeks.'

"Our government must be at least as well informed as ourselves of the German naval preparations and diplomatic arrangements. What does it mean to do? One thing it will do itself. An Anglo-American understanding is already a fact, it will become a fact the moment Germany shows her hand at Manila."

SPAIN'S GREAT NAVY. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, July 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A World special from Madrid says: "I obtained today from a competent naval source the following statement of the naval situation, so far as Spain is concerned: 'We lost at Manila vessels worth $5,000,000. At Sanlúcar we lost vessels worth $13,000,000. Our fleet under Camara must come home, because it really consists of only two war vessels, the Pelayo and Carlos V, and therefore could not cope with Dewey after the arrival of the American reinforcements. Our torpedo-boat destroyers have proved worthless against the battleships and cruisers when properly handled. We have at home no available naval force ready, as is shown by the condition of the ships at Cadiz, Cartagena and Ferrol. All are either unready or unseaworthy, nine ships in all.' These are Spain's whole naval strength at home."

PROOFS OF TREACHERY. Cervera's Wrecks Show the Maine Was Blown Up. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] OFF SANTIAGO, July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The wrecks of Cervera's fleet are all silent witnesses of Spanish treachery which destroyed the Maine. The examination of the remains of the Maria Teresa and Oquendo, blown up by the officers of these vessels, furnishes proof that the explosion was from without. Even the torpedoes which exploded on the edge where the explosion took place place the blame on the torpedoes, but the poor are dying of starvation in the streets. There are many signs of terrible misery. The barracks are filled with starving men.

"The soldiers are fairly well fed. Gen. Pando has been sending troops into the interior, it is said, en route to Sanlúcar. The blockade is maintained, and vessels are frequently turned back. Everybody is anxious for the conclusion of the war, though the soldiers wish to fight and all the officials are resolute. There is no flour in Havana, and no meat, while yams are scarce."

The Berlin correspondent of the London Daily News says he hears from a reliable source that Prince Henry, who is a colonel in the Russian army, is about to be betrothed to the Russian Grand Duchess Helen, daughter of Grand Duke Vladimir and a cousin of Emperor Nicholas.

GOING TO MANILA.

TROOPS DOMICILED AT SAN FRANCISCO TO DEPART.

Maj.-Gen. Otis and Maj. Long and Ruhlman Hold a Consultation About the Matter.

ARRANGING FOR MORE BOATS.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP CO. HAS SERVED ITS COUNTRY.

Capt. Ward of the Rebellious Woodlanders Heard From—Hospitality and Good Templars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maj.-Gen. E. S. Otis and Brig.-Gen. Harrison Gray Otis will sail on the next expedition to Manila. This was decided some days ago, and definite instructions from Washington were received by Maj.-Gen. Otis today. It is probable that they will go on the City of Puebla or Peru, and it is possible that they may depart the early part of next week, without waiting for the rest of the fleet. The Peru and City of Puebla are to carry the Fourth United States Cavalry, the Nevada troop of cavalry, Sixth United States Artillery, one or two batteries of California Volunteer Heavy Artillery, one battalion of the Fourteenth United States Infantry, and the recruits for the Eighteenth and Twenty-third regiments.

If the fourth expedition is not divided it will consist of the Peru, City of Puebla, Pennsylvania, Rio de Janeiro and St. Paul. The latter is to arrive about Sunday, and will be put into the hands of the government at once. She was chartered by the Pacific Commercial Company today, and will make a magnificent troopship. The sailing vessel Tacoma has also been chartered, after much dickering, and will carry horses and mules to Manila. The troops to go on the Pennsylvania, Rio de Janeiro and St. Paul have not been named. The Seventh California Volunteers have an excellent chance, but it has not been decided yet that they will go. All other organizations at Camp Merritt expect to be of the fourth expedition, but as only about forty-five hundred men can be accommodated, some must be disappointed. The fact that Brig.-Gen. Otis is to sail argues well for the going of the Seventh California.

CONFERENCE ABOUT TRANSPORTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Maj.-Gen. Otis and Maj. Long and Ruhlman held a consultation today regarding the transports of the next expedition and the troops which will go on them. The troops for the City of Puebla and Peru have already been decided upon. The Rio de Janeiro and Pennsylvania are now being prepared. Their carrying capacity has not yet been officially figured out, but as soon as that has been done the regiments will be designated. Unless the accommodations of the ships are very much less than is thought, unless some troops not yet here shall be given precedence, the South Dakota and Kansas regiments will get away. In spite of all rumors to the contrary, it seems probable now that the fourth expedition to the Philippines will be of the same nature as those that preceded it. Arrangements have been made with the Alaska Trading Company whereby the St. Paul can be chartered. She is a new vessel, a sister ship of the Senator, and is due here from St. Michael tomorrow or Sunday. Tomorrow the supplies for two of the transports of the next fleet will be delivered, and those for the other three are ready to be delivered when they are wanted. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company has chartered the Hongkong, the British steamship Glenfarg, 235 tons, to replace one of the steamers taken by the government. The service is much crippled in consequence of the number of vessels that have been taken, including the City of Peking, China, Colon, City of Sydney, Peru, Para and lastly the Rio de Janeiro. The Glenfarg has not yet left Hongkong.

GOV. MCCORD'S LEAVE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.), July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. McCord returned tonight from a trip to New Mexico, and announces that he has received indefinite leave of absence from his duties as Executive of Arizona, and will take command as colonel of the regiment of infantry now being recruited in the four Territories. He expressed himself as being highly pleased with the character of the volunteers from New Mexico, a company of which is already at Whipple Barracks. In case any difficulty is experienced in filling the quota from New Mexico, the deficiency will be supplied from Arizona.

ARIZONA'S QUOTA FILLED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.), July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A squad of thirty-four infantry volunteers, under command of Lieut. Wiley E. Jones of Solomonville, passed through Phoenix tonight on their way to Whipple Barracks. This completes the recruiting in Southern Arizona under the second call. Capt. John Baldwin, U.S.A., left on the same train to finish the work at Flagstaff or Prescott. Within forty-eight hours all of Arizona's quota will be at Whipple Barracks. The Solomonville squad was given an enthusiastic reception by the citizens of Phoenix. A parade and fireworks were the features of the evening. Many of the volunteers are young Mexicans. They are an exceptionally fine body of men.

THE SICK LIST.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—There is considerable illness at Camp Merritt, though the death rate remains very low. South Dakota has seventy on the sick list, and though practically an acclimated regiment, the Seventh Regiment has seventeen in the hospital, and as many more in quarters. Montana has about thirty in the hospital, and more than that number sick in quarters. The 134 beds of the field hospital are all in use, as are the thirty-five beds allowed by the French Hospital.

WARD COMES FORWARD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Capt. J. F. Ward of the Woodland company of the National Guard, which refused to be mustered yesterday at Camp Merritt, has written a letter, in which he says: "If I am given one good reason why I should be superseded, I will guarantee to have my command in line before the mustering officer in five minutes." Budd says that Capt. Ward has been negligent of his duties. It is asserted that the records of the adjutant-general's office will show that he has been very careless in attending to the business of his company. The Governor hopes the men will reconsider their action before he is forced to disband them from the National Guard. Co. H of the Fifth Infantry is being considered as a substitute for the Woodland company.

THEY WILL ENLIST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OAKLAND, July 8.—Co. M of Woodland, with the exception of eight members, left Camp Barrett this afternoon, intending to take the 4 o'clock boat for San Francisco. The men have been furnished transportation, but it is understood that a number of them will not return to Woodland. They intend to enlist in some of the regular organizations in San Francisco. The men who refused to go are First Lieut. Pearl and Privates George Aldrich, Frank Horn, Joseph Pazzano, Dan Manning, Walter J. Briscoe, A. E. Holt and George A. Clark. The latter has joined Co. A, N.G.C., of Oakland.

MILITARY GOOD TEMPLARS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.), July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A. P. Walbridge, Grand Chief Templar of the Independent Order of Good Templars in Arizona, has instructed C. O. Austin, Deputy Grand Chief, now at Prescott, to endeavor to organize a military lodge among the volunteers now being gathered from Arizona and New Mexico at Whipple Barracks. Similar lodges have been organized at Chickamauga Park, B. E. Parker, Grand Chief of tary of the world, and are reported to be very successful.

MILITIA CALL SOUNDED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, July 8.—Just before noon today the militia rang out from the fire bells. It caused much excitement and great deal of uncertainty for a time, for it was generally said the call was for the rough riders just organized here. Later, it was officially announced that it was for the reorganization of a new infantry company to take the place of Co. M of Woodland, which refused to muster. The United States service, Lieut. Adel C. B. says Gov. Budd wishes another company from San Jose to take the place of Co. M of Woodland. A meeting to be held tonight at 9 o'clock at the Woodland company's headquarters to decide whether to accept the call or not.

QUICK RECRUITING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, July 8.—The offer of San Jose to furnish a company to fill the place in the Eighth Regiment, left vacant by the withdrawal of Co. M of Woodland having been accepted by Gov. Budd, the work of recruiting went on this afternoon. Capt. George Baldwin, who was designated as captain of Co. M, came down as recruiting officer. At 9 o'clock this evening 104 names had been passed by the surgeon, and the company will leave for Camp Barrett at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

MUSTERED OUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, July 8.—The company of National Guardsmen from Woodland which refused to enter the United States service under the captain named by Gov. Budd was today mustered out of the State militia. Capt. Ward has been ordered to turn over all the State and government property in his possession, and he will not be relieved of his bond until a satisfactory settlement is made with the State.

DR. HART OF TEMPE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The California Red Cross Society has selected Dr. J. Hart of Tempe, Ariz., as its first surgeon for Manila. He has spent five years in the army service in Arizona, and speaks Spanish, Italian and French, as well as English. Oswald Schlotter will serve as steward. He has lived in the Philippines. Altogether a corps of eight nurses and doctors will soon be supported at Manila by the Red Cross of California.

WEDDING IN CAMP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—There was a wedding in the camp of the Seventh California Volunteers today. MCCUTCHEON WRITES HOME.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

CHICAGO, July 8.—A special cable to the Chicago Record from its correspondent, John T. McCutcheon, with Admiral Dewey's fleet, Manila Bay, July 4 via Hongkong, says:

"The American troops under Gen. Anderson, which have reached the Philippines, are now comfortably quartered in the Spanish military barracks at Cavite, and are busy preparing for active service against the Spanish. No attack on Manila is probable before the arrival of the second detachment of troops under Gen. Greene, which is expected soon. The present force of soldiers and marines is considered insufficient to protect life and property in Manila in the event of the capitulation of that city. The soldiers, however, are all eager to begin the fighting."

"Capt. Greene has agreed to surrender Manila for some time, and for that reason the Spanish Consul who is conducting the defense, transferred the military leadership from him to the senior colonel of artillery. The insurgents control the city waterworks and cut off the supply from that source, but as this is the rainy season, and there is a cloudburst every day, the Spaniards do not suffer from lack of water. A serious matter for them at present is that the insurgents have captured San Juan del Monte, a few miles to the rear of the city, which has been fitted up with old cannon and a supply of ammunition and provisions to serve as the last stronghold of the Spanish government after the forces should be driven out of Manila by the bombardment of the American warships."

"Gov. Marina, whom Capt. Glass brought as a prisoner from Guam, the seat of Spanish government in the Ladrone Islands, declines to accept parole from the Americans, preferring to remain a prisoner at Cavite rather than run the risk of being shot in Manila by his countrymen for surrendering."

"Today the warships in the bay are dressed in honor of the Fourth of July. The troops held a military review off Cavite. The health of the American forces continues good."

SPANIARDS GETTING READY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

HONGKONG, July 8.—A dispatch from Manila under date of July 4, says that Admiral Dewey will remain inactive until Gen. Merritt arrives. The rebels are practically doing nothing, but the Spaniards are strengthening up their position, destroying huts and woods and constructing intrenchments. The authorities have enacted a penalty of $1000 against anybody who shall raise the prices of provisions.

The Spaniards assert that, despite the loss of the waterworks, there will be no famine during the rainy season. They are confident that an ample force from Cadiz will arrive soon and annihilate the Americans, and they stand to compile the natives. In the meantime they declare that they will endure patiently whatever comes, and resist to the utmost.

PHILIPPINES NIGHT REPORT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 8.—A large share of today's Cabinet meeting was consumed in the reading and discussing of new tariff schedules for the Philippines. The formal announcement of the President of his purpose to collect the customs revenues of the Philippines as a war measure had been prepared, and after discussion it was decided to leave the question of the tariff to the committee of State, together with schedules for final examination. It is probable the President's declaration will be issued within the next few days.

DEADLY WATERSPOUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TOWN OF STEELVILLE NEARLY WASHED AWAY.

Thirteen Known to Be Dead—Yadin Creek Swelled to a Mighty Flood Swept All Before It—Relief Party Starts for the Stricken Place.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—A special to the Republic from Cuba, Mo., says a courier from Steelville, the county seat of Crawford county, brought the terrible news today that the town had almost been wiped out by a waterspout early this morning. The known dead are:

MRS. LOU TUCKER and babe, St. Louis.

Daughter of Charles Abrahams, St. Louis.

MRS. JOHN WOODS and two children, Steelville.

MRS. JAMES TAFF and three children, Steelville.

MRS. WILLIAM LEBOWITZ, Steelville.

LUTHER SLOUGH, Steelville. Colored man, unknown, Midland.

As soon as the news was received a relief party started for the stricken town. The town was in ruins. Few buildings were left standing, and groans of anguish were heard on all sides as the searchers sought for loved ones among the debris. The waterspout occurred outside the town, but swelled Yadin Creek, which came down in a mighty and destructive flood, sweeping all before it.

Up to this evening thirteen bodies had been recovered, but it is thought more have perished. Steelville was the scene of a terrible tragedy. The Salem branch of the Frisco Railway. All the wires are down, and no communication can be had except by courier.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS.

Enthusiastic Meetings Mark the Second Day at Nashville.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.), July 8.—Many enthusiastic meetings marked the second day of the Christian Endeavor convention, and all were well attended. Beginning with the morning prayer meetings, followed by the numerous denominational conferences in the different churches, the morning was busily spent. Tonight, equally well attended meetings were held in the same halls, and strong and eloquent addresses delivered.

The reports of William Shaw, the treasurer, made to the board of trustees, were given out today. As agent of the publishing department, he reported: Total receipts, $64,582; balance, June 1, 1897, $5,458; total expenditures, $72,927. LIVED TO TELL.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF PASSENGERS SAVED FROM LA BOURGOGNE.

Survivors Tell Weird Details of Brutality, if not Murder, Possibly Never Equalled in the History of the Merchant Marine—All French Boston.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Times prints the following:

The official casualty report toward the passengers of La Bourgoigne during the struggle for life following the collision and sinking of the vessel is the subject of much comment throughout the city. It is the popular opinion that the stories of the surviving passengers must tend to an investigation of unusual thoroughness and interest.

Assist. Dist.-Atty. Unger, in discussing the case said that in common law any company is responsible for the acts of its employees. In his opinion, the surviving sailors of La Bourgoigne could be indicted for murder if the charges can be proved. It was the first day the sailors, he said, to save the passengers. He cited several parallel cases. One was that of the Mate Holmes, of the steamship William Brown, which sank off Nova Scotia in 1841. Holmes ordered fourteen men and two women thrown overboard.

Holmes was arrested and tried for manslaughter, found guilty and the verdict was sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

When asked about the jurisdiction, Mr. Unger said that in his opinion, if La Bourgoigne's sailors committed the alleged acts on rafts or in small boats, the United States government would have jurisdiction, but if the alleged brutalities were committed on the steamship, France itself would have jurisdiction.

"France," Edmund Bruwaert, the French Consul-General, said that as soon as the survivors of the wreck reached this port, a consular investigation will be instituted to collect all available evidence concerning the casualty, and this will be forwarded to the French Maritime Court. Whatever crimes of omission or commission may have been committed, whether on board La Bourgoigne or on rafts, or in small boats, were undoubtedly committed under French jurisdiction, as they were under the French flag and therefore in French territory. This would apply even in cases in New York Harbor.

"When asked whether, if there was evidence given by the passengers to show that any parties or members of La Bourgoigne's crew had actually killed a passenger from one of the ship's boats, he would be arrested here, the Consul said that he had not had time to look up the law on the subject."

LONDON, July 8.—Dispatches from

FRENCH STEAMER LA BOURGOIGNE.

Among the survivors there were several who could speak English well, but most of them would communicate only through an interpreter. There were among them who had been in the United States, and some of them were Americans and Arabians. Some of them showed the marks and bruises received during the terrible struggle for life. Among those who boarded the Halifax one could be found who was on deck at the time the collision occurred. The only man saved from La Bourgoigne who was on deck when the ship struck was Mr. La Casse, La Casse, with his wife, left Halifax by rail.

The survivors agree that when La Bourgoigne was struck by the Cromartyshire, the shock was not great. Therefore it is believed that many of the passengers never awoke. The arguments as to the time intervening between the collision and the sinking of La Bourgoigne vary. Some say ten or fifteen minutes, and others say thirty-five or forty-five minutes, while one American was certain it was a full hour. The blow struck La Bourgoigne one that could never be provided against by watertight doors.

Among the remarkable escapes were those of three stokers of La Bourgoigne, Louis Julien, Jean Alvany, and Françoise Mello. They were in the stoke hole when the accident occurred. Their story in substance is as follows: The engines were stopped after the collision, and subsequently we started in the hope of beaching the steamer on Sable Island. About five minutes after the fire out, the water began to come into the boiler-room and soon it rushed in in great volume. The pumps were tried, but to no avail. The water pit most as fast as before. Then all hope was abandoned, and the engine blew twice on the whistle, the signal for all to escape. Those who chose to do so rushed to the stoke holes, and the engine-room. Three men who succeeded in getting out of the boat before it had left, and they plunged into the sea. They were picked up later and taken on board the Cromartyshire."

ANOTHER SURVIVOR'S STORY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, July 8.—E. A. Chard, French, who has been some years in Baltimore, was on his way to France with his wife and children. On the morning of the collision, he put them in a boat amidships, and went to get another boat for himself. Only one end of the boat he got into was cut loose, and the boat tipped when it descended, throwing its occupants into the water. Just at this time, La Bourgoigne's funnel gave way and one end fell directly across the boat in which M. Chard's wife and children had been placed, crushing it and knocking all the passengers overboard. One of the funnel chains struck Mrs. Chard across

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, July 8.—From the testimony of three persons, Otto Zeiser of New York, William Achard of Baltimore and Charles Liebra, chief cook of the Staff Hotel, Philadelphia, it appears that the fourth engineer of La Bourgoigne, who was saved, acted in the most brutal manner toward the passengers. The three men agree in the statement that after the collision, when everybody was surrounding the boats, the engineer said: "Damn the passengers! let them save themselves. We save ourselves first." He also said that if he had had a revolver he would have shot the passengers. Mr. Zeiser spoke in great praise of the captain. On the voyage Liebra became acquainted with Yousouf, the wrestler, who was a passenger. After the collision Liebra says he saw Yousouf struggling in a crowd of drowning passengers, beating them off with a siletto, and shoving them aside and trying to reach a boat. He failed, however, and went down.

L. Taraud of New York and Mons. Lucas from Northern France, the latter being a waiter on board La Bourgoigne, were also passengers.

the continental capitals still talk of European intervention in the Hispano-American war. France is being represented as taking the initiative and Germany and the other powers as declining to interfere.

By way of Berlin comes an interview with Señor Moret, former Spanish Minister of the Colonies, advocating that Spain should sue for peace, "because it is ridiculous even to suppose that she could tire out the United States," and because Spain "can only expect fresh defeats, placing her in a worse position than ever."

Señor Moret said it was imperative that the United States should issue a victorious note of its first war with a foreign power, because its social problems and surplus wealth compelled it to pursue a policy of expansion. He said he believed Spain had nothing to fear from the Carlists or the Republicans, because both depended on the army and its workmen, whereas, the former, the army, had already felt the strength of the enemy and was not likely to protest

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The gunboat Bennington came down from Mare Island this afternoon and anchored near the revenue cutters Corwin and Albatross. Admiral Miller will probably transfer his flag to the Bennington. The Philadelphia will not go into commission until Tuesday. The Bennington's coal-bunkers are full, and it is expected she will sail for Honolulu in a few days to carry the official flag of the annexed Hawaiian Islands.

NEW MERCHANT SHIPPING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—By the annexation of Hawaii fifty-three vessels have been given American registry. Of these twenty-four are steamers, four full-rigged ships, ten bark and seventeen schooners. The Pacific Mail and Southern Pacific steamers Arctar, Eucalyptus and Samoa will all come in. The steamer Albatross will also fly the American flag. The other favored steamers are nearly all engaged in the interisland trade.

PARIS, July 8.—The Temps today, referring to the annexation of Hawaii to the United States, says: "It is impossible to ignore the creation of a daily increasing current in America bearing that country in the direction of a political aggrandizement and foreign conquests, which is a departure from all its national traditions."

THOSE REFUNDING BONDS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—H. H. Pearson, Jr., and Walter Stanton of New York, representing the Edward C. Jones Company of New York and a syndicate of New York banks and bankers, have just returned from Honolulu, having offered the Hawaiian government $400,000 premium for $1,000,000 45-per-cent, twenty-year, refunding bonds, which would, under the Newlands resolution, become a debt of the United States. They found the Hawaiian government in a satisfactory state as to maturity and form of bonds, and the time insufficient to make changes prior to annexation becoming a fact.

THE COMMISSIONERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—It is probable that President McKinley will announce tomorrow the names of the Hawaiian commissioners whom he is to nominate to the Hawaiian Islands. Unofficially, it is understood that four of the five commissioners will be Senator Cullum of Illinois, Senator Morgan of Alabama, Representative Hitt of Illinois and President Dole of the present Hawaiian republic. The fifth member of the commission, it is reliably understood, will be a prominent member of the Hawaiian judiciary.

DIVORCE AND GAMBLING.

CONGRESSIONALISTS DISCUSS THESE AND OTHER SUBJECTS AT PORTLAND. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.), July 8.—The National Council of Congregationalists this morning took up the divorce and gambling question.

The Rev. C. C. Cavanaugh, Boulder, Colo., presented the report of the Committee on Scripture Doctrine of Divorce. The divorce treated in the report was said to be a divorce from bed and board, and not a divorce from the living body of the husband or wife and be married to another person. The committee was of the opinion that there is no existing scripture doctrine of divorce other than that stated by the Savior in Matthew xix, 1-9. The committee stated that the only authority in the scripture who have treated of divorce are Moses and Christ. Liberty of practice under Moses' law was so restricted by Christ that nothing of that law may be regarded as remaining except what is preserved in the sixth chapter of Matthew. Moses thus eliminated the divorce from the law, and the exponent of the doctrine of divorce in the scripture. So the committee said, "The report of the committee against gambling was read by the Hon. AFTERNOON SESSION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.), July 8.—At the afternoon session reports were read "On scripture, doctrine of divorce and on gambling."

The Rev. C. C. Cavanaugh, Boulder, Colo., presented the report of the Committee on Scripture Doctrine of Divorce. The divorce treated in the report was said to be a divorce from bed and board, and not a divorce from the living body of the husband or wife and be married to another person. Moses thus eliminated the divorce from the law, and the exponent of the doctrine of divorce in the scripture. So the committee said, "The report of the committee against gambling was read by the Hon. A. L. Williston of North Carolina, who made the following recommendations:

"First.—Whereas, it appears that in some localities, tickets for chances and votes for the disposition of prizes are sold at church fairs to raise money for religious and charitable purposes; therefore, this conference recommends that absolute and absolute dissent from all such methods of raising funds for worthy objects.

"Second.—That this association continue a committee to repress gambling, and that this committee have leave to ask various States and churches to assist in this work by the appointment of similar committees in these associations, to the end that these committees throughout the different States promote and support legal action against gambling on the part of the regularly constituted civil authorities, and also by reporting the acts of their respective States and the unworthy results of enforcement, where it is attempted by the committee to this council, in order that data may be provided to secure all desirable uniformity in legislation, and administration against gambling throughout the Union.

"Third.—That such committees as may be appointed in reference to this matter by the association of the different States be invited to secure the cooperation of all religious bodies which will help to repress this evil. A report on prison reform was also presented.

A paper on "How to Unite Friends of Temperance," from Frank Foxcroft of the Boston Journal, was read by the Hon. S. B. Capen of Boston. It was in part:

To unite the moral forces in any community for practical work against the saloons, it is essential, first of all, that there shall be a real subordination of all side issues. If the church take the initiative, as they ought, it must be without any manifestation of the denominational spirit. If all the moral forces are to be brought together, there must be room on the common platform for the Catholic, the Methodist, the Baptist, the Unitarian, as for Protestant pastors of every name.

There are two classes of men who should not be on committees in union anti-saloon work. The first is the ornamental class, selected because their names look well and are thought to impart a distinguished air to the movement; the second is the men of one idea, the cranks, to use the common term, who will discuss to about in their particular way. Such men repel and alienate, and if they must have a part in the organization they should be kept at the rear, and gagged on occasions.

In many instances it will be found best to take the law as it stands, whatever imperfections it may have, and see what can be done under it, before attempting for something more stringent.

There was a long discussion of the report on ministerial standing, and the following resolution on this subject was finally adopted:

"Resolved, that in the transfer of ministerial membership from one association, conference, or other ecclesiastical body to another, the judgment of the council is that the gaining of new members is a more important consideration than the loss of old members, and that the applicant shall have been fully released from his previous ecclesiastical membership.

At the evening session Rev. E. S. Hill of Iowa read a paper on "Common Grounds of Belief for Christian Thinkers." "Christian Living and Giving" was the subject of an address by Rev. C. W. Hatt of Ohio.

Shoots a Steamer Agent and Probably Commits Suicide.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

STOCKTON, July 8.—Charles Swanson of Bouldin Island, who runs a ferry from Central Station to Andrews Island, discharged two loaded double-barreled shotguns this morning into Steve Gordon, agent for the California Navigation and Improvement Company. The shooting took place about 9 o'clock on the Sacramento side of the river, and the wounded man was brought to Stockton this afternoon on the Clara Crow.

After the shooting of Gordon, Swanson went into his ark, when another shot was heard. Swanson has not been seen since, it is believed, and he is believed to have committed suicide. The shooting was the result of a quarrel, in which Swanson had been provoked by Gordon for two or three days and was ugly.

Mr. Deuprey attempted to amend his statement, but his Honor declined to listen, and continued the case until next Friday.

MINING LAWS AMENDED.

SALT LAKE CONGRESS ADOPTS A RESOLUTION ADVISING IT.

Majority and Minority Reports Rejected—Milwaukee Decided Upon for the Next Place of Meeting. Papers Read on Technical Subjects.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah), July 8.—On the assembling of the International Mining Congress morning session, the majority and minority reports on the revision of the mining laws were taken up for discussion.

Ex-Congressman C. L. Allen of Utah offered the following resolution:

"That it is the sense of this International Mining Congress that the mining laws of the United States be so amended as to do away with extra lateral rights in mining claims, and that the president and secretary of this congress be authorized to call on the next session of the United States Congress, to the Public Lands Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives, respectively, and also to the Secretary of the Interior and the Commissioner of the General Land Office, each, a copy of these resolutions."

Allen made a strong speech in favor of his resolution.

Col. Montgomery of Colorado, president-elect of the congress, advocated Allen's resolution, but said it did not go far enough. Abner Graves of Colorado called for the previous question, which brought a direct vote on the resolution, and was now adopted by a safe majority without a roll call.

Separate votes were then taken on the two committee reports. The committee on the revision of the laws was then discharged with a vote of thanks.

W. E. Keys of Colorado introduced a resolution setting forth that, inasmuch as the Canadian government makes no discrimination against citizens of the United States going to the Klondike district, our government should make reciprocal laws in regard to the public mineral lands in this country.

Francisco Yanes then addressed the congress on "The Mineral Resources of Venezuela." Several papers on technical subjects were read.

The next business in order was the selection of the place for holding the next meeting of the congress. The vote resulted as follows: Milwaukee, 72; Boise, 16; Portland, 3; Kansas City, 4. The time of holding the congress was left to the Executive Committee, which was authorized to establish permanent headquarters for the congress, the place to be designated by the Finance Committee. Adjourned to 10 a.m., tomorrow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah), July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Notwithstanding the indefatigable efforts of delegates from Randsburg among the delegates on the floor of the congress to have the City of the Angels selected as the place for the next session of the International Mining Congress, Milwaukee was chosen without a roll call. Medicine was recommended and taken in quantity but it did no good.

"Time and time again I was at the brink of despair. Day by day my trouble grew worse, and dark indeed was the day before my deliverance."

"A friend of mine told me about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and what they had accomplished for others in my condition."

"It was the first glimpse of the sun of hope through the dark clouds of misery. I bought a box and took them. Even then I felt their effect. I bought more and continued to take them until I was well and strong."

"That she is well to-day is a miracle. Mrs. Bowen's trouble requires no description beyond the symptom, which every woman will instantly recognize."

In describing them Mrs. Bowen says: "For eighteen years I suffered with weakness, nervousness, and a general feeling of being out of sympathy with the world."

"I was a broken down piece of humanity; a shadow of a woman."

"My brain was tortured until I could remember but little. I could not sleep or eat and was reduced in weight to a mere skeleton. That little I did eat could not be digested in my weakened state, and caused me untold misery."

"My skin was muddy, my eyes were heavy. I was dizzy all the time and totally unfit for even ordinary housework."

"I was prescribed medicine without avail. Medicine was recommended and taken in quantity but it did no good."

WE ARE ONE PEOPLE.

HOUSE ADJOURNS IN A BURST OF GOOD FEELING.

Stirring strains of Patriotic Airs and Cheers for the President and National Heroes.

"DIXIE" FOR THE FIRST TIME.

TWO HUNDRED AMERICAN FLAGS FLUTTERED BY MEMBERS.

Resolutions of Thanks to Vice-President Hobart Adopted by the Senate With a Rousing Aye. Closing Legislation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—At 2 o'clock today, when Speaker Reed announced "this second session of this Congress adjourned without day," a great cheer arose, and then began a scene which, while similar to the usual closing scenes of other sessions, far surpassed in its enthusiasm and manifested good feeling any similar episode in the memory of the oldest member of the House. The occupants of the packed galleries, who had risen to go, paused as they heard several of the members beginning "America."

Other members hurriedly crowded around the Speaker's stand and joined the other singers, until within a short time it seemed all the members present were aiding in swelling the volume of song. Presently a voice here and there in the galleries joined in, and it was not long until members and spectators were all singing the patriotic hymn.

The scene was a marked transition from the many partisan demonstrations which had been witnessed such a short time before. Democrats and Republicans were now singing in accord the national anthem. When the song ceased some member proposed three cheers for the nation's President and the roar of sound that followed came from a united voice. "The North, the South, East and West, a united country," was proposed, and then in turn came the heroes of the war, Dewey, Schley, Hobson, Sampson, and finally former Representative Gen. Joseph Wheeler, who is now clinging, though ill, to his command in front of Santiago, was named, and the hall resounded with cheers of thrilling strength. Then the singing proceeded. Meantime Sergeant-at-Arms Russell had brought in 200 American flags, and every member was now waving one.

"The Star Spangled Banner" was sung, while flags waved and the galleries cheered. "The North, the South, East and West," and "Dixie," the latter perhaps for the first time in the House by members. Democrats and Republicans were given, and then the members began leaving, saying farewell to colleagues. "Home, Sweet Home" and "Auld Lang Syne" were sung, and the patriotic airs, and impressed more strongly upon the hearers that another session was ended.

Clerk Meadwell, when the singing ceased, mounted the clerk's stand and announced that Mr. Allen of Mississippi had opened a recruiting office in the Ways and Means Committee-room, and a few minutes later Mr. Allen, popularly known as "Private John," arose and said: "Let the Congressional Riders will report to me in the committee-room and enlist for Cuba."

The announcement was suggestive of his speech, delivered a number of days ago, in which he proposed that a company of Congressmen be recruited.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROMISE.

He Will See That the San Pedro Contract is Rushed. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Immediately upon adjournment of Congress, the members from California began to make arrangements to get home. De Vries was the first to leave, taking the train within two hours after the gavel fell. Senator Perkins and Congressman Barham will leave tomorrow for the West, while Senator White expects to get away Sunday.

Congressman Hillborn does not know when he will leave, owing to the fact that as Congressman Boutelle, chairman of the House Naval Committee, is out of the city, and the Californian is the active head of that body, he has been requested to stay by the Secretary of War, who anticipates conditions which will render necessary the presence of a member of the House body.

Loud will not be able to get away for some time, by reason of his service on the Postal Commission. Congressman Maguire expects to leave very soon, and Barlow and Castle are making their plans to start West the first of next week.

President McKinley said today positively he would see at once that the contract for the completion of the work on San Pedro is rushed. The contract, it is thought, will be let to the Chicago bidders before the end of the present month, and they will at once begin work upon the erection of a plant necessary to handle the improvement.

The following postmaster was appointed today: C. M. Palmer, Bagdad, San Bernardino county, vice George L. Andrews, resigned. A post-office has been established at Workman, Los Angeles county, with Wright F. Green postmaster.

FIFTY-FIFTH CONGRESS. REGULAR SESSION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—SENATE. In a manner so simple as to be almost perfunctory, the Senate at 2:06 o'clock this afternoon adjourned without day. It had been agreed that when the Senate convened at noon, the House resolution providing for the adjournment of Congress at 2 o'clock today should be adopted and that an executive session should be held to confirm the nominations in the military and naval establishments. No other business except of the adjournment, and the session transacted. The arrangement was carried out to the letter.

For nearly an hour previous to adjournment President McKinley and all the members of the Cabinet, except Secretaries Day and Long, were in the Speaker's room, adjoining the Senate chamber. During that time the President signed a large number of ingrossed bills, many of which would have failed had it not been necessary to send them to Executive Mansion for his signature.

Mr. Morgan of Alabama opposed the proposed adjournment, maintaining that it would be far more desirable for Congress to take a recess until the first Monday in September. He urged that the war with Spain seemed to be drawing to a conclusion, and insisted that it was the duty of Congress to remain in session, as questions of the gravest consequences might be precipitated at any moment. He urged, too, that a treaty of peace with Spain might soon demand the attention of the Senate.

Mr. Allen of Nebraska spoke in a similar strain, and stated also that the calendar was crowded with bills of an important character. This statement brought from Mr. Gallinger, the member from New Hampshire, a declaration that there were but 116 general and thirty odd pension bills on the calendar, a smaller number, he said, than had been on the calendar at any time during the past twenty years.

After half a dozen objections had prevented the consideration of the bill permitting volunteers at the front to cast their votes for members of Congress, Mr. Thurston secured the adoption of a resolution for the consideration of a committee of fifteen Senators to attend the Transmississippi Exposition at Omaha on a stated day, namely, at 1:05 p.m., on motion of Mr. Allison, the Senate went into executive session. At one minute of 2 o'clock, the executive session ended and the doors were opened for the closing legislative session. The clock by which the Senate regulates its business, had been turned back five minutes in order that the extra session might be gained.

Mr. Spooner offered a resolution thanking Senator Frye, President pro tempore of the Senate, for the able and efficient manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the Senate during the present session. It was adopted.

A similar resolution, offered by Mr. Cockrell of Missouri, thanking Vice-President Hobart, was adopted with a rousing aye. Vice-President Hobart had opened a recruiting office in the Ways and Means Committee-room, and a few minutes later Mr. Allen, popularly known as "Private John," arose and said: "Let the Congressional Riders will report to me in the committee-room and enlist for Cuba."

The announcement was suggestive of his speech, delivered a number of days ago, in which he proposed that a company of Congressmen be recruited.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROMISE.

He Will See That the San Pedro Contract is Rushed. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Immediately upon adjournment of Congress, the members from California began to make arrangements to get home. De Vries was the first to leave, taking the train within two hours after the gavel fell. Loud will not be able to get away for some time, by reason of his service on the Postal Commission. Congressman Maguire expects to leave very soon, and Barlow and Castle are making their plans to start West the first of next week.

President McKinley said today positively he would see at once that the contract for the completion of the work on San Pedro is rushed. The contract, it is thought, will be let to the center aisle, flushed, and his eyes fixed upon the minority, growing apparently indignant.

"I called for tellers," said Mr. Handy, and with that the veteran member of Illinois stepped into the aisle.

"You are deliberately obstructing public business, in which the whole country is interested," The rest of his remarks were lost in the jeering of the minority, calls for the regular order and a great confusion.

Mr. Cannon charged up the aisle, pouring out a flood of vigorous denunciation. He had reached a point opposite Mr. Ball (Dem.) of Texas. Mr. Cannon had called for the yeas and nays, saying it was manifest the Democrats would call for them. Mr. Cannon had repeated his charge of obstruction when Mr. Ball, addressing the Republican side, as it subsequently developed, declared "the record is false, and you know it was false when you voted against correcting it."

"That is a lie," cried Mr. Cannon, and in an instant the belligerent members were struggling to control them. The House was upon its feet. Mr. Marshall (Rep.) of Illinois called out Mr. Cannon and thrust him aside, and when Mr. Ball asked Mr. Cannon "to come outside" and the latter was moving to comply, Mr. Cannon seized the big silver mace and was moving among the members where the greatest disorder prevailed. Order was restored slowly, and the roll call proceeded.

The roll call, upon Mr. Handy's motion to strike out, resulted in yeas, 106. Later in the session, Mr. Cannon explained that Mr. Ball had addressed his remarks not to him personally, and therefore he desired to withdraw his offensive statement.

The Speaker named Mr. Henderson, Mr. Hopkins of Illinois and Mr. Richardson of Tennessee as a committee to wait upon the President, in company with a Senate committee, and announce the readiness of Congress to adjourn.

"Mr. Speaker," said Mr. Henderson, after the return and reporting the committee had discharged its duties to wait upon the President, in company with a Senate committee, and announce the readiness of Congress to adjourn.

"The report was applauded. The remainder of the session passed without incident."

IT MADE HISTORY.

The Fifty-fifth Congress More Than An Ordinary Body.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The passing of the second session of the Fifty-fifth Congress marks the close of the first war Congress in a quarter of a century. Associated with the first hostile conflict, with the first declaration of war, at 1832, and contemporaneous with a further movement for territorial expansion, though with few important changes in the domestic scheme, the present Congress outlives almost every other Congress in the history of the United States. It began with a widespread clamor for sympathetic action for suffering Cuba, but there was apparently no expectation of armed conflict. But when the trend of events culminated, the emergency was quickly met by legislative enactment. The first few, but significant, war measures suddenly needed were framed and made law, but with the issue made clear, the Congress proceeded to enact resolutions fairly submerged the two branches of Congress.

Hawaiian annexation, war appropriations and war revenue legislation, organization of a vast volunteer army and expansion of the navy, a new bankruptcy law, and the resolution of the session. Notable speeches and dramatic scenes over foreign issues were comparatively frequent in both legislative chambers. The urgency deficiency bills, carrying millions of dollars, were rushed through with far less delay than the emergency measures of an ordinary measure of like importance. The total appropriated footed almost $900,000,000, and upward of $250,000,000 of this was for war purposes. It was the largest aggregate by any session since the civil war, and the General Deficiency Bill was the largest separate measure since the $750,000,000 single appropriation in 1863. The Naval Appropriation Bill provided for three new battleships, four monitors, sixteen torpedo-boat destroyers, twelve torpedo boats and one gunboat. The Urgent Deficiency bills all carried provisions for aggressive work in the prosecution of the war. The General Deficiency Bill, enacted in the last days, carried a provision for refunding the indebtedness of the Central and Western Pacific railroads to the government.

Cuba and the important matters of debate, and provoked the most widespread interest. Hawaiian annexation, finally passed at the close, was agitated throughout the session, first in treaty form, in executive session, last in open session by resolutions according the Hawaiian government's consent to the islands.

There were a number of messages from President McKinley, bearing on the Cuban situation, ranging from the submission of a report upon the Maine disaster and the consulate reports to a call for a declaration of war. The first real war legislation was when Congress placed, without limitation, $50,000,000 in the President's hands as an emergency fund for the relief of the survivors of the Maine disaster for their losses, not to exceed a year's pay, with a similar amount to relatives of those who perished became law. On April 11, the President left the Cuban expedition in the hands of Congress. Resolutions were soon enacted and became a law, April 19, declaring that the people of Cuba ought to be and are free and independent, and that the United States should relinquish its authority and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters, and directing the use of our land and naval forces to enforce the resolutions. The declaration of war was passed by Congress and approved April 25.

Subsequent legislation gave free admission to all military and naval supplies allowed abroad by this government, and the soldiers' massed against Spain, mustered in the entire volunteer army, have been raised, embracing 125,000 men under the first and 75,000 under the second call.

A month previous legislation had been enacted reorganizing the line of the army, effecting three modern battalions war formation. It designated the peace organization of these regiments with two battalions of four companies each, or two skeleton or un-manned companies, and supplied the third battalion in war time by manning the skeleton company, in organization, and extending the war-time requirements.

Other important requirements, and other law amended the present administration of justice in the army, accomplishing in court-martial methods. One feature of the session was the enactment of the war-revenue law. Its framers expected it to produce $100,000,000. Other revenue legislation included a bill enlarging in favor of importers the provisions as to disposition of abandoned imported merchandise, and extending the allowance on distilled spirits in bond from four to six years.

Another war legislation included the following: Allowing a maximum increase of 100 army hospitals; providing for the maintenance of volunteers before the war; enrolling and mustering into United States service; adding two assistant adjutant-generals; organizing volunteer army signal corps; authorizing the volunteer army to be organized, creating two additional artillery regiments, adding 1600 men; adding fifteen assistant surgeons to the army permanently, and in emergency, creating two contract surgeons to the army as necessary; creating a United States auxiliary naval force not exceeding 2000 enlisted men, and appropriating $3,000,000 therefor; organizing a naval hospital corps of twenty pharmacists and apprentices as necessary; authorizing assistance to Cubans, and providing them with arms and supplies, allowing home-coming volunteers to count their service in home-coming requirements; resolutions of thanks to Dewey and his men, the presentation of a sword to him, and to his officers, and providing for increase in the force of inspectors-generals, ordnance and other army departments.

Other legislation, aside from war, included: Prohibiting the killing of fur seals in the North Pacific; importation of sealions into this country; prohibiting the exportation of carrying merchandise, directly or indirectly, between United States ports; Alaskan homestead and right-of-way act; encouraging the construction; appropriating $200,000 for the relief of the Yukon miners suffering from lack of food; creating a nonpartisan industrial commission to investigate immigration, labor, manufacture and business; appropriating $150,000 to the Nevada agency, creating a commission to allot lands on the Uintah Indian reservation in Utah; dispensing with proof of loyalty during the war; and the prerequisite to a bounty-land application where proof otherwise shows title, and removing the limitation imposed by section 3 of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution heretofore incurred. Late in the session a general bankruptcy law, both voluntary and involuntary, was enacted. Many important measures were agitated which never passed. These included: A bill for the relief of the United States, requiring the government to purchase or overtake the civil-service system, which brought investigations, numerous references and commissions and numerous debates on the merits of the bill, but finally was lost in the war excitement. The Loud Bill to create a basis for second-class mail matter was killed in the House. The Personnel of the Navy Bill, reorganizing the entire naval service, was reported to the House, but not until the next session. Banking and currency legislation, proposing a general reform in the existing scheme, was reported by the committee, but never came before the House.

The Teller resolution declaring for the payment of national bonds in silver as well as gold was passed by the Senate, but was defeated in the House. Statedhood bills for New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma were killed in committee. An immigration bill, requiring ability to read and write on the part of those 16 years old passed the Senate, but did not reach a vote in the House. The Anti-Scale Bill, prohibiting ticket brokerage, reported in both houses, went over to the next session. The free-homes amendment to the Indian Appropriation Bill, giving over twenty million acres of public lands as free homes for settlers, was finally compromised on the two-years' extension of payment for such lands.

DECEIVED BY AGENTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The Senate Committee on Claims today made its report upon the investigation made by the committee into the payment of the claim of the Methodist Book Concern, and the payment to Maj. E. B. Stahlman of $100,000 as agreed upon in the claim through. The report finds that the committee was deceived by the representations of Mr. Stahlman and Measrs. Barber & Smith, the book agents, but absolved the Methodist Church, South, as such from blame in the matter. It is also found that no Senator or member of Congress received any money in connection with the claim. The testimony taken was also made public.

Stahlman said he had been giving more or less attention to the claim since 1892, but that the contract for 35 per cent. had been made in 1895. Stahlman said he had cautioned the book agents against making the contract public, "because," he continued, "if I went to Washington as their representative for a fee of any amount I would just be hounded day in and day out, and that I would probably fall into the hands of some of the vultures who hung around the Capitol, which would involve the passage of the measure in questionable methods. They agreed to that. I had promised that I would let no man know anything about it, for the reason I have stated, because if the fact had been known, I do not believe the question could have been considered on its merits. I believe it would have been considered with a prejudice against the claim."

Mr. Stahlman said he had told Senator Pasco that he had no contract with the book agents. Technically, this was correct, as he had no contract with the Book Committee.

"I told no falsehood," he said. "I concealed some facts. I am free to say that Senator Pasco had a right to believe there was no contract of any kind. While I was guarded, I was exact in all I said, and I knew that I told no falsehood in saying it."

Senator Fairbanks. Did Senator Pasco not ask you the direct question as to whether you were to get a percentage of the claim as a fee?

Mr. Stahlman. If he did I did not answer that. What I answered was that I had no contract with the book agents; that every dollar of the money would go into the treasury, and I told the truth.

Senator Fairbanks. Why did you mention book agents?

Mr. Stahlman. Because I did not have a contract with them. My agreement was with the Book Committee.

Senator Fairbanks. Senator Pasco was not asking whether you had a contract with the book agents or the Book Committee?

Mr. Stahlman. I do not know that he asked that question.

Senator Fairbanks. Did he ask you whether or not you had a contingent fee in this claim?

Mr. Stahlman. He did not. I will say this, though, for Senator Pasco. He had a right to assume that no contract existed.

NOMINATIONS.

Lawton, Chaffee and Wood to Be Advanced Among Others.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The President today sent these nominations to the Senate:

War: Volunteer army—Brigadier-generals of volunteers to be major-generals: Hamilton D. Hawkins, Henry W. Lawton, Adna R. Chaffee, John C. Bates.

To be brigadier-generals—Col. Leonard Wood, First Regiment United States Volunteer Cavalry; Lieut. Col. Chambers McKibben, Twenty-first Infantry.

First Regiment Volunteer Cavalry to be colonel—Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, First Regiment Volunteer Cavalry.

ALL CONFIRMED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The Senate in executive session confirmed all the nominations sent in by the President.

To be brigadier-general, with rank of major: George F. Shiel of California.

The time today was taken up almost wholly with appointments, to which there was no objection, and on this account a number of nominations went by. Southern Senators renewed their objections to some of the northern men nominated for commissions in southern regiments, and a good many of the appointments were held up.

Among the nominations which failed of confirmation were the following:

Indian agents: Fred B. Spriggs of Alaska, N. F., at the Nevada agency, Nevada; Charles D. Keys of Wichita, Falls, Tex., for the Apache agency, Arizona; C. S. McNichols of Moline, Ill. Colorado River agency, Arizona.

Receiver of public moneys: Sargent S. Morton at San Francisco. Register of land office: H. Dorsey Patter of Chicago at Tucson, Ariz.

GAVE HIM A HEAVY DOSE.

Shell-Game Fries Retired for a Hundred and Fifty Days.

Charles Fries, the "shell-game" operator, will have ample time to consider his lack of judgment in playing his game in a crowded park and on a holiday. Justice Owens yesterday morning sentenced him to pay a fine of $150, or do time for the city for an equal period.

This is the first conviction of a bunco man for some time, and Justice Owens thought it was a good time to show that class of people what they might expect in case of conviction. Fries cannot pay the fine, so he was sent to jail, and will have an opportunity to do some good work on the streets.

Death of Col. Cartmell.

The funeral of Col. M. Cartmell will take place from the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. W. Shanks, No. 3631 Monmouth avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Col. Cartmell came here from Winchester, Va. He was 70 years of age. He died suddenly Thursday night of apoplexy.

Contract for Street Signs not Yet

The members of the Board of Public Works spent nearly the entire afternoon yesterday in examining the bids for street signs but were unable to determine which bid was the lowest.

The board will endeavor to decide the matter and report at the next meeting of the council. Its work has been heretofore the classification of the bids, but beyond that nothing has been done.

The members of the board went to First and Second streets yesterday to inspect the street signs that are to be placed against improvement. It was decided that the improvement should proceed along the original plans.

In the matter of the opening of an alley in the block bounded by Fifth, Broadway, Sixth and Hill streets, the Board of Public Works made an examination of the lines of the proposed alley and decided to recommend that the opening be begun at a point ten feet west of what is proposed in the plans.

Street Improvements Wanted.

The property-owners on Le Roy street have petitioned the city council for the improvement of that street by grading, graveling, curbing, etc. They desire that the work shall be done under the provision of the Bond Act.

A petition for the grading and graveling of a portion of Boyle avenue was filed in the city clerk's office yesterday by interested property-owners. They desire that the street be improved from Fifth street west.

A CONTRACT MARRIAGE.

A MATRIMONIAL ENTANGLEMENT IN THE ITALIAN COLONY.

Louis de Grazia Was First Divorced. Then Married by Stipulation, and Last Year Took the Roman Path in a Foreign Country—The Contract Wife Makes a Claim.

The Italian colony was well represented in Department Six yesterday, for the De Grazia case was being tried, and its various phases were not only of a somewhat complex character, but were so replete with matter of semi-sensational interest that the friends of both parties showed up in force.

The suit of Carmela de Grazia against Louis de Grazia is peculiar in this: That the plaintiff is seeking first to establish her common-law marriage to the defendant, and that done, she asks the court grant her a divorce of divorce, with division of the community property, and costs.

Before the first witness was called yesterday, Will A. Gould, Esq., representing the defendant, asked that all witnesses be excluded from the courtroom, and the case be heard with closed doors. Maj. Bell, representing the plaintiff, said he scarcely saw the necessity for closed doors, and Judge Allen denied the request, intimating that as the woman did not demand it the man ought to be able to face the testimony.

The claim set up by Mrs. de Grazia is very simple. She claims that she intermarried with Louis de Grazia, who she says was a married man, in 1937, that her husband treated her cruelly and deserted her; that in August, 1937, he went to Italy, leaving her in the family home, in the city, and that she has since been treated by him as a stranger.

So far, the suit would appear merely as a duplicate of others cropping up in court every day, but the stand taken by Louis de Grazia has lifted it from the commonplace. He asserts that the woman who by courtesy was considered as his wife was not at all, and she had never understood her relation with him to be other than of a temporary nature. But the facts as developed yesterday are more complicated.

In the course of the conference it was stated by Mr. Woltman that Kessler & Co. proposed to invest $200,000 in the improvement of the plant and as much more as might be necessary, all improvements to be subject to the approval of the city engineer. The plan includes a guarantee that the water rates shall never be higher than they are now. Additional proposals to pay to the city during the next five years of its lease 2 1/2 per cent. of the gross receipts; during the second five years, 4 per cent. and during the balance of the term 5 per cent.

The firm also proposes to settle all the pending litigation by securing the relinquishment to the city of all rights to the water in the Crystal Springs property.

The proposition of Kessler & Co. contemplates the purchase by the city of the water plant at the expiration of the fifty-years' lease, the valuation to be determined by arbitration, on the basis of the cost of duplicating the plant at that time.

The details of the proposition will be embodied in the form of application he set out to be submitted to the council next Monday.

WANT THE MASTS.

Councilmen Favor the Retention of the High Lights.

In spite of the efforts of the several electric companies opposing the bid of the Los Angeles Electric Company for city lighting the bid of that company, of $6.50 per lamp under what is known as specification "A," is almost certain to be accepted. This specification provides for the lighting of the city under much the same plans as those now in force, except that the new contract will require an all-night service regardless of the moon schedule. The Gas and Light Committee, to whom the matter was referred, has taken no definite action, but a majority of the members of the council have expressed themselves as in favor of such an award.

The bid of the Los Angeles Electric Company was the lowest on the face of the bids, and since the bids were received the other companies have been endeavoring to show that the bid of that company was not really the lowest, considering the alleged advantages of better service from them. The assertion that they would be able to furnish better lights at a slightly increased price has had but little influence on the committee, the great reduction in the cost of lights, as indicated by the bids, having about decided the committee to report favorably on the lowest bid.

The council will be called upon to decide the matter finally, as the committee is by no means a unit on the matter. The matter of the removal of the tall masts is one which will enter largely into the consideration of the matter, and any plan which includes the retention of these masts will be almost certain to receive a majority vote in the council.

Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 61 deg. and 80 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 59 per cent; 5 p.m., 63 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., west, velocity 1 mile; 5 p.m., west, velocity 12 miles. DRY BULB TEMPERATURE.
 Los Angeles 61
 San Diego 61
 San Francisco 52
 Portland 56

Weather Conditions.—No material change has occurred in pressure, which is very evenly distributed west of the Missouri River. The temperature has risen slightly or remained stationary from the Pacific Coast to the plateau regions. It continues high in Kansas and Nebraska. Generally fair weather prevails on the Pacific Slope. Sprinkling showers fell at Los Angeles yesterday.

Forecast.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Cloudy tonight; partly cloudy Saturday.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—For Southern California: Fair Saturday; fresh westerly winds.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Practical benevolence to the soldier boys seems to be the rule with the Red Cross auxiliary workers at Pasadena, for they have been quick to follow the example set in San Francisco of furnishing a fine large mess tent to their own particular band of soldiers. This is a comfort worth having in camp life.

Young America was a prominent figure in Fourth of July celebrations all over the country. The Oregonian draws this pretty picture: "A pleasing feature of the procession and a new one, was presented by the marching columns of the Boys' Brigade. Sturdy lads stepped with military precision, and the bearing of each indicated that he had heard from Sampson and from Shafter, and was proudly conscious that he was a 'Pacific Coast boy,' as well as an American, though unfortunately not quite old enough to answer the next call for troops."

According to the Oakland Tribune: "Out of the 14,000 claims registered on the Klondike it is said that only about 200 are on a paying basis. Those who are flocking into the country now find themselves confronted with a most grievous condition of affairs, for there is no work to do and no claims to be had that are worth handling. As a result they are compelled to branch out over the bleak, harsh country to the north, and many an hour of misery doubtless awaits them. What gold has been found on the Yukon has all been located in pockets, and the prospectors who have been going in this year are practically on a wild-goose chase."

RAILROAD RECORD.

WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Died of the Heat—Notes to the Political Conventions.

Engineer Elder of the Southern Pacific on his return from his last run, reports an attempt on the part of an unknown woman to commit suicide near Redlands. The woman, who left this city on Wednesday at 4:25 p.m., was just at dark, when rounding a sharp curve at Crafton, a suburb of Redlands, a woman darted out of a hedge and fell across the track in front of the approaching train. The engineer thought she stumbled and fell, but when she did not attempt to rise, but pulled her garments over her head, he saw it was the purpose of the woman to be run over. The engine was reversed just in time to save her life. Immediately friends appeared who bore her away in the darkness, preventing the discovery of her identity.

W. Kreuger, a carpenter, working on the Southern Pacific on the desert, was taken ill on Thursday. He was put on a train to be brought to Los Angeles, but died at Banning. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Breese Bros., where an inquest was held. The deceased has lived on Temple street, and was a member of the Odd Fellows' fraternal order. Kreuger leaves a widow and two children.

The Southern Pacific has made a one-fare rate for delegates to the Populist convention at Sacramento, and the same rate will apply to the other political conventions of the season.

The Santa Fe has made a one-fare rate from San Diego to Los Angeles for the same purpose, and it is certain that this also will be extended to cover all similar meetings.

Thursday the shipments of citrus fruits amounted to only five cars all told.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

Petty Offenders Against the Law Receive Sentence.

Nide Jacobson yesterday paid a fine of $10 on conviction for petty larceny.

J. White assaulted Christina Rich, an Alameda-street woman, Thursday night, and yesterday was given a sentence of 15 or fifteen days in jail. In default he went to jail.

B. A. Drummond, who is charged with having obtained money and goods from several merchants by means of checks on banks in which he had no funds, was arraigned before Judge Owens yesterday on the charge of obtaining goods by false pretense. His trial was set for July 26 at 10 a.m.

The case of battery against L. Mathews, the railroad man who was charged with having struck the four-year-old son of J. C. Coffee with a stone, was tried yesterday morning by Judge Owens. His Honor took the matter under advisement until today.

William Ham, the bricklayer who struck a fellow-laborer Thursday because the latter called him a liar, was fined $5 by Judge Owens yesterday morning.

Fourth of July Business.
 The Fourth of July Executive Committee met again yesterday afternoon and ordered all bills paid. The committee will wind up their affairs today at 1:30 p.m. and any persons having claims against the committee should call today to present them at that time. A statement of all receipts and expenditures will be made in the newspapers the early part of next week.

The head was of olive wood from Mount Olivet, and the handle of terebinth wood from the ancient Hebrew town of Shiloh. The afternoon ended with the enrollment of the delegates.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Shafter and Sampson have agreed on a plan to begin action at noon tomorrow. Sampson will begin the bombardment from the outer harbor of Santiago.

SECURITIES AFFECTED.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LONDON, July 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Spanish stocks went up in Paris and London today on a report that negotiations were proceeding between Madrid and Washington with a view of bringing about peace. A stock exchange rumor has it that peace negotiations are being conducted through British intermediaries. This is denied at the Foreign Office here.

WAYS AND MEANS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
MADRID, July 8, 9 p.m.—The cabinet council this evening considered the questions of new cables and military measures necessary in view of an American attack upon Spanish ports. All rumors as to peace negotiations are semi-officially declared to be unfounded.

WOUNDED BROUGHT HOME.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
KEY WEST (Fla.) July 8.—Four transports carrying the wounded from Santiago entered the lower harbor this afternoon, with the intention of landing the most serious cases here. A government tug went out to them and gave some information regarding the results in the hospital ships proceeding to Tampa. Key West is having its hands full in the attempt to minister to the 300 soldiers brought by the Ironclads Tuesday. The local facilities are limited, and the town just now, during the hottest time of the year, is suffering from an ice famine, and the break-down of the only ice-making plant in the place.

SEVERAL VESSELS DUE.

Spanish Privateers Would Get Rich Pickings.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The report from Washington that a Spanish privateer is hovering off the coast of British Columbia is not credited here. Some time ago it was reported that a man named Brown had sailed from Victoria to the Spanish authorities at Madrid asking for letters of marque to fit out a privateer, and prey upon treasure ships coming from the Klondike. At the time it was thought to be merely an advertising scheme to revive the waning interest in the Klondike gold fields, and no trace of Brown could be found at Victoria.

ORDERS TO PREPARE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 8.—The Navy Department has been informed that a Spanish privateer, carrying five guns, is hovering off the coast of British Columbia. According to last accounts, the privateer was between Prince Charlotte Sound and Dixon's entrance. Prompt instructions have been sent to the military authorities of the Northwest Coast to prepare for a visit at once.

Will Catch the Pole.
HALIFAX (N. S.) July 8.—Lieut. Peary has arrived at Sydney, C. B., on his way to the Arctic regions. He says he is confident that he will reach the North Pole this time, but he may consume four years in doing it.

Reckoned Patriotic.
[San Francisco Chronicle:] One year ago this journal and many others urged a special observance of the Fourth of July to recall the spirit of patriotism which seemed to be passing out of vogue. As distance from the civil war increased the outward show of love for flag and country had diminished. There had been a feeling of indifference to the national emblem, and the putting of flags on schoolhouses and playing the national anthem in the theaters at the end of each performance had become a thing of the past. The spirit of patriotism, however, was not broken. The people were still patriotic, and the Fourth of July was still a day of national pride.

But all the indifference is now gone. A revived loyalty to flag and country, a consuming zeal for the greater glory of the nation, and a revived pride in its past are among the few worthy legacies that a war pays as it goes, and all leave behind it. Patriotism is now a flame high in San Francisco, and all other American cities. The flag flies from every staff. Men, ordinarily indifferent to the fact, now wear the national colors in their buttonholes. They lift their hats and wipe their eyes when regiments march by. They cheer the national anthem with a vim which the faded longings before the footlights less than a year ago would have seemed impossible to themselves or any other players. It all goes to show that patriotism was not dead, but sleeping.

Waiting upon the pulse-quickening beat of the reveille, and if awoke the fresher and the more invigorated for its long slumber.

Fourth of July observance is needed. The event will take care of itself, and what will be the result of the burning of fireworks and the hearty participation of over 375,000 people in the national day of rejoicing. San Francisco will make up, in heaping measure, for past seasons of neglect.

Passing the Line.
[New Orleans Times-Democrat:] Many amusing stories are told of the camp life at Mobile, where quarters. The different camps now at Mobile are made up exclusively of volunteer regiments, and some of the younger recruits are very raw recruits. A good story is told of a volunteer in the First Alabama Regiment. Last week the Second Louisiana was in a position to reach the most convenient route to reach it was through the camp of the First Alabama. One of the members of the Louisiana camp was out for hours, and as he came to the line of the Alabama camp he ran into a sentinel, who promptly ordered him to halt. The Louisiana man promptly halted, and the sentinel and he stood peering at each other for some time through the gloom. Finally the sentinel in tremulous tones said: "You can't get through this line unless you say 'Hobson'."

"Hobson," the Louisiana man promptly said. The sentinel brought his piece to a present, the intruder saluted, and the line was passed.

SANTA MONICA.

RELATED DESTRUCTION OF THE "REINA MERCEDES."

Was Advertised to Take Place on July Fourth, but Didn't Happen Till Yesterday—Uncomfortable Delay in Soldiers' Home Ambulance Service.

SANTA MONICA, July 8.—[Regular Correspondence.] The old lighter Mill Billen, belonging to the Wilmington Transportation Company, and borrowed from San Pedro for the Fourth of July celebration here, dragged her moorings this afternoon and now lies full of water and fast going to pieces on the beach in front of the Arcadia Hotel. The Mill Billen was supposed to represent the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes in a mimic bombardment of shore here on the evening of July 4. Her destruction was widely advertised to take place at that time, but somehow for once the American gunners must have fallen short of their boasted marksmanship, for the Reina remained uninjured at her moorings till today. This afternoon there was a rather heavy sea rolling in from the westward, and the lighter tugged heavily on her anchor. Later it was seen that she was adrift, and before a tug could come from Port Los Angeles she had floated overboard. SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. Common Council Meets and Transacts Routine Business.

SANTA BARBARA, July 8.—[Regular Correspondence.] The Common Council met in regular session yesterday afternoon at the City Hall, with all the city officials present. The report of the committee which had been appointed to confer with the Santa Barbara Water Company concerning an exchange of salt water for fresh, containing an adverse report, was read and the council decided to accept the same.

An offer of salt water from the Santa Barbara Company until the mains would be laid out by the company for fresh was also proposed. The council decided to accept the same, and was instructed to prepare the application accordingly.

Councilmen Siver, Hunt and Wentling were appointed a committee by Mayor Burke to ascertain at what price they will furnish lights. William Kincaid was granted permission to use the electric light at the station.

The City Engineer was instructed to make an estimate for a bridge on the street over Mission Creek, and report at the next meeting.

A petition was presented by the W.C.T.U. for enforcing the curfew ordinance, and the council decided to pass the same.

A letter from the Assistant Postmaster-General was read requesting the numbering of houses as a preliminary to the extension of the free-delivery system.

Mayor Burke announced that the freehold school had been opened at 8:30 o'clock, and delivered a copy to the Council for action. It was ordered published.

PRESIDENT DOLE'S GREETING.

INCIDENTS OF THE HALT IN THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

After a Short Pause in a Friendly Harbor the Troops Start on for Manila.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

HONOLULU, June 29.—Ever since the transports City of Peking, City of Sydney and Australia, and the cruiser Charleston left Honolulu a week ago last Saturday morning, we have been arranging for the next "invasion." When we heard, about two months ago, that about 3000 soldiers were to stop here on their way to Manila, it was decided to give them a royal welcome, and to entertain them to the best of our ability while the transports remained in port. But when the Charleston arrived, on the 29th of last month, bringing news that instead of 3000 men there would be about 25,000, it began to look like a serious matter. However, it was decided to proceed to do the best we can under the circumstances, and let the future look out for itself. So, when the Moana came in from San Francisco, on June 25, a large quantity of the second contingent would probably arrive within two or three days, we began to listen for the five whistles which had been agreed upon to announce their appearance.

But this is the best place in the world to cultivate patience, for in this out-of-the-way little island we are a whole week behind the rest of the world, and never know when to expect anything. We are entirely up to date in a local way, for we have telephones in all business houses and in the majority of the residences, we have four daily papers, and I don't know how many weeklies; and, in fact, every convenience excepting that of quick communication with the world outside.

Some alarm was felt a few days ago on account of the non-appearance of the Peru, due here on the way to the States on June 18. A large quantity of fruit, principally bananas and pineapples, were on the wharf awaiting shipment, but as the days passed without bringing the Peru, it became evident that the Peru had met with an accident, or had been detained at Kobe, or perhaps had been impressed into United States war service, and had gone directly to San Francisco without calling here. But on June 17 she came into port. She had been detained at Kobe on account of quarantine regulations.

On the evening of June 15 the Mohican arrived from San Francisco to relieve the Bennington, which started for the coast the next morning, carrying the largest amount of mail ever taken from Honolulu at one time. As this was the first opportunity to send mail home since the first transport arrived, a great deal of that the Bennington carried was letters written by the soldiers during their stay in Honolulu.

The mails were irregular enough before the war began, but since several of the best passenger ships have been taken over by the navy, it is hard to tell just when to expect our letters. A time table which hangs on the wall of my room states that mail steamers were due here from San Francisco on June 4, 8, 15, 22 and 25; but since that time the war has been on, and most of the boats due on those dates are now on their way to Manila, carrying the blue-coated soldier boys. The Oceanic Steamship Company has been endeavoring to buy or charter a steamer for service between Honolulu and the States, but has failed to secure one. However, the Moana, which arrived on the 22d, brought news that all the war vessels and transports would stop on their way to Manila will bring mail.

And that is not the only news the Moana brought; for people who happened to be at the waterfront as she rounded Diamond Head, noticed that flags were flying all the way from the top of her masts to the deck, and thought it meant either peace or annexation news—and when she was near enough for the letters on the enormous placard which hung over her side to be distinguishable, they learned that "House Passed Annexation, 205-94," and as she came up the harbor she blew a peculiar whistle, which signified, to those who understood it, that annexation was now doubly sure. The crowds on the wharf were very much excited, and cheered again and again. The Daily Bulletin of this city made a "hit" by having an extra printed in San Francisco just before the Moana sailed. It is the custom of the papers here to get out extras whenever a boat brings startling news, and it is usually a couple of hours after a boat docks before any of the extras can possibly appear on the streets, and as a general thing it is a very poor excuse for a paper. The other two offices were intended to get out extras as soon as possible, but when the managers saw the beautifully printed large extra the Bulletin had ordered, and the pleasant surprise to the rival papers they turned a pale green with envy, and didn't issue extras from their offices that day.

We are still enjoying a joke we have been laughing at ever since the morning of June 19. At 2:30 o'clock that morning a searchlight was discovered signaling just off Barber's Point. Those who saw it were certain their last hour had come, and one of them telephoned to central that a Spanish man-of-war was about to bombard the city. Now that would make it, at least, unpleasant for us, for this island is quite small and it would be absolutely impossible for us to get far enough back to be out of danger. The officers and men on the Mohican were hurriedly called, by the notes of the bugle, to "general quarters," and preparations were made to tell their lives dearly. Nothing happened till 4 o'clock, when the inter-island steamer W. G. Hall appeared, coming from the direction where our formidable enemy was supposed to be looking for a right place to make the first attack. When the captain was questioned he stated that he had seen no war vessel, Spanish or otherwise, and if one had been anywhere in the direction he would surely have seen it. "For," he said, "I have been trying my searchlight off Barber's Point and—"

A look of relief, as well as disgust, appeared on the countenance of those who spoke to, and the men and officers on the Mohican who had stood at "general quarters" for an hour and a half, looked at each other sheepishly and went to bed without expressing their opinions on the subject. It was something after 5 o'clock last Wednesday morning that the five whistles blown by the electric light works announced the appearance of the flagship China, and, as the whistles usually sound two or three hours before the boat docks, most of the people of Honolulu awakened merely enough to count the five whistles and then turned over for an hour's nap before getting ready to go down to the wharf. And right there is where they made a mistake, for, contrary to custom, the boat tied up at the Pacific Mail dock a very few minutes after the whistles sounded. So the Committee on Welcome did not greet the soldiers from the deck of a small steamer, as they have done on previous occasions. But the government band on the wharf did honor to the occasion, and the people who did go down in time made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers. And the Colorado band on the China answered the government band's air of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," by playing the Hawaiian "Pono." The "Pono" is the Hawaiian national air. It was composed by Capt. Berger, who has been for many years the leader of the government band. This air greatly resembles the tune the Englishmen call "America," but the Englishman calls it "God Save the Queen."

The men aboard were glad to get here, and when the people on the wharves began throwing pineapples, bananas, etc., into the hundreds of hands outstretched to catch them, each Hawaiian soldier attempted to raise his voice just a little above the others in order to get his share, and the man with the bugle found it difficult to attract attention by blowing the bugle and, at the same time, to catch an occasional banana.

At about 9:30 o'clock, 1200 men marched from the China to Waikiki, where they enjoyed an ocean bath, and shortly after 1 o'clock they were seated on the lawn under the great trees in the grounds of the Executive building, enjoying the banquet given them by the people of Honolulu, and listening to the music of the government band, which was playing for eleven hours that day, and six hours the day following.

Gen. Green and staff tendered President Dole a review of the troops that evening at 5 o'clock. The streets, during the review were crowded with enthusiastic spectators. President Dole reviewed the troops while standing on one of the steps leading to the front entrance of the Executive building. He was attended by several of the officials high in Hawaiian affairs, and by some of the officers of the Hawaiian National Guard. The latter wore their dress uniforms, and added a brilliancy of color to the scene.

The President and Mrs. Dole entertained Gen. Green and Capt. Seabury to dinner in the evening. Several other dinners were given, as well as other small entertainments, including a few luau (Hawaiian parties). At about 6:30 o'clock the same evening we heard the whistles announcing the appearance of the transports Zealandia, Colon and Senator, and this time we were not to be caught napping, so we wasted no time in getting to the water front. In a short time the Elen, with the government band and the Committee of Welcome aboard, started out to meet the transports. As she came up to the vessels with the soldier boys aboard, the patriotic music of the band was heard, and the cheers from thousands of throats aboard the transports. It was nearly 11 o'clock before the Zealandia was docked at the Oceanic wharf, and shortly next morning the Colon and Senator tied up at the Pacific Mail wharf.

The men from the transports spent Friday in the same way the men of the China had spent Thursday. Three thousand soldiers were banqueted at one time, and a number of companies waited for the second table. There was more than enough to eat, and it was of the best. After the banquet, a sort of informal reception was held, and a large number of the soldiers were presented to President and Mrs. Dole, who, with a large party of ladies, received under the shade of a large tree. Just after the conclusion of the reception, one of the American officers, by mistake, fired off one of the Gatling guns in the grounds of the Executive building. A party of officers had been inspecting the guns and the cartridge case of the weapon had been raised (which caused a cartridge to fall into the firing chamber), and left in that condition. After a while some of the officers came along and one of them gave the crank a turn, and, if the muzzle of the weapon had not been depressed, the consequences might have been serious.

The Monterey, accompanied by the collier Brutus, arrived in port on Friday at 5 p.m. She was met just outside the heads by the Committee of Welcome, accompanied by the government band, and the steamers Moana, the Pennsylvania Five and Drum Corps also went out on the Mani. The band of the Mani played "The Star Spangled Banner," and the Monterey responded with her siren. The Mani gave a whistling salute, and then everybody cheered, including the boys aboard the China, which had left the dock and was anchored outside, in order to give the Beagle wharf room. The Monterey proceeded to the Pacific harbor, and was saluted by the firing of the battery at Kakaia by the National Guard.

The natives were much amused at the appearance of the Monterey, and I heard one of them remark, "That boat can't hurt anyone! The Americans sent her here to scare the Hawaiians." But another, looking at the great guns aboard, replied: "Hurt anyone! Look at those guns! The Monterey is wela ka hao," which is Hawaiian for "hot stuff." Immediately after her arrival, Commander E. H. C. Loring paid a call of ceremony to Gen. Green.

The officers of the Monterey report a rather eventful trip. Two days after she left San Francisco, she was overtaken by eighty tons of coal from her dock, owing to the heavy seas she encountered. The Brutus immediately took her in tow, and they proceeded to San Diego, where she recoiled. They left San Diego for Honolulu on June 11. On June 13 the Monterey used her own motive power, but on that day the Brutus again took her in tow. The tow-line parted that night, but was picked up the following morning. The Monterey was then towed till the afternoon of June 24, when she again began using her own steam, at 11 o'clock an hour rate. When being towed by the Brutus she makes only about half as much time as she does when using her own steam. It is estimated the Monterey weighs about eight thousand tons, and the towing strain is equal to that of a freight train a mile long. A fourteen-inch Manila hawser is used to connect the vessels.

A reception was given aboard the Monterey on the morning of June 25, from 2 to 5 o'clock, and many people among them a large number of Hawaiians, took advantage of the opportunity, though, during the most of the afternoon, it was raining. We have had considerable rain during the time the transports have remained in port, not enough to interfere with the pleasure of anyone, but just enough to clear the air and keep the dust down and the foliage green and alive. There is so delightfully warm that no one complains.

By 1 o'clock on the afternoon of the following day (June 26) the China, Zealandia, Colon and Senator had left Honolulu for Manila. The China had been at anchor just inside the harbor since Thursday morning. An immense crowd was at the water front to see the boats leave. The government band played patriotic music as the soldiers left, amid the cheering of the multitude, to fight for the liberty of the Cuban people.

It had been announced the vessels would leave at 8 o'clock in the morning, and from that time till they did leave, the crowds on the wharves waited. The soldiers carried away an immense amount of fruit which had been given them, and the aloha of every one (aloha is a Hawaiian word which has a variety of meanings, all embracing good feeling and fellowship). The soldiers on all the vessels expressed themselves as being delighted with Honolulu, and many of them say they are coming back here to live after a while. Besides the banquet and many other courtesies they were given all the stationery they cared for to use for writing home, and about 1000 of Foreign Affairs was authorized to "stamp and forward letters written by United States soldiers and sailors while in Honolulu, and to the Philippines, Philippine Islands, without charge." Most of these letters were written in the executive building, and there were at least 5000 of them. The fruit papers there are also many packages, some that rattle like table cutlery—these boys, as well as those of the great expedition, are quite a quantity of ex-Pasadenians here, and the boys "from home" will be given a special welcome by them.

Byron O. Clark, formerly of Pasadena, who has recently been appointed Secretary of Agriculture for the Hawaiian government, has had some very handsome badges printed, to present to the Pasadena boys in blue, when they arrive. There are quite a number of ex-Pasadenians here, and the boys "from home" will be given a special welcome by them.

Good blood tells in the countenance, and it is well as in the life. The Monterey is still in port as this mail closes, but every preparation has been made to enable her to start for Manila this afternoon. Two surf boats, usually used in taking sugar from shore to island steamers, have been bought by the American government. They will be used to carry sacked fuel at sea from the collier Brutus to the Monterey. An attempt was made to purchase four of these boats instead of two, but only two were for sale.

George Geddes of Co. C, from Beatrice, Neb., died at sea on Tuesday, June 1, from brain trouble. He was buried four days after his death at a place about 1300 miles from San Francisco. The ceremony, which took place on the deck of the Colon, was very impressive. The body, covered with an American flag, was lowered into the ocean, while the Senator and the Zealandia and Colon were at a standstill with flags at half mast. Three volleys were fired at the conclusion of the ceremony by the saluting party.

The sick men are being well cared for by the local Red Cross Society, and will probably be sent back to the States as soon as they are able to travel. Several men who overstayed their time through mistakes left on the Beagle for Hongkong on the 25th, where they will join their regiments.

The transports have several mascots aboard. Searchlight, a red-haired little fellow, is mascot of the First Nebraska. One of the companies has a goatee. But the mascot of the Pennsylvania regiment may bring good luck to others, but not to himself, for he now carries his arm in a sling, having broken it during his stay in Manila. Boots is very small for his years, which number 14, but he looks like a genuine soldier, in full regimentals, with hussar's and cavalry's and is with him one, too. A prominent society lady here thought to please Boots by allowing her little boy to give a party in his honor, and a member of the Reception Committee was asked to find him and tender the invitation. He was finally found with some of the soldiers in front of a saloon.

"Boots, a lady up here wants to give you a party. Will you come along with me?" "Naw," was the immediate reply. The surprised bearer of the invitation tried to impress the boy's mind the pleasure in store for him, and the pleasure the lady would take in entertaining him. But Boots looked up with disdain and said: "Naw, I'm going to stay with der boys, see?" The committee man was compelled to return to Boots's would-be hostess with the word that Boots was indisposed.

Great preparations are being made by the members of Co. B for entertaining Co. A, Sixth Regiment, N.G.C., which is expected within a couple of weeks. Among other things, a smoker will take place in the rooms of Co. C. Eight local men have enlisted for the war between the United States and Spain, and are now on their way to Manila, and others hope to get away on the next expedition.

An anti-annexation meeting took place at Lahaina about two weeks ago. Letters were read from John Richardson at Washington, assuring us that annexation would never come, and calling for more funds to keep it from coming, but no funds were raised. Kapiolani, the Dowager Queen, who recently died, left her estate, including the land she owned, to the late King Kalakaua, to her nephews, the Princes David Kawanakoa and Jonah Kalaniano'ole, who commenced suit to have the property conveyed to herself. She claims she did not in-

Write. That is as good. "Hudyan," which is nature's own production, brings instantaneous help. It stops the drains which are sapping your very life's fountain of vitality in a week. Then the system responds in a grand way—Life is again a pleasure. Spirits rise and full strength and fire reappear. "Hudyan" does this for the weak at all times, and in all places. It has never been known to fail—indeed, it cannot fail. Circulars and testimonials are sent freely to all inquirers. These show its wondrous power in a manner that cannot be doubted. A great army of men have been restored to the full enjoyment of youthful energy by it. It makes man full of

POWER.

There is blood taint in evidence when you are afflicted with the copper-colored spots or tiny ulcers in the mouth. Then ask for "3-day blood cure" circulars. They are free. Drive all the poison out at once and leaves the system perfectly sound and well.

The London Spectator, extolling the feat of Lieutenant Hobson in sinking the Merrimac, says:

"The exploit is of itself sufficient to indicate the certain result of the war. You cannot beat a nation whose officers and men are equally ready to perish in a forlorn hope if only it may advance a national object."

Of course not. No one has ever yet, even when we've been less prepared than at present. We may not have quite as many ships and guns as we'd like, but there's one thing we're always "long" on. We've a lot of dare-devil youngsters that are "world-beaters." Forlorn hopes are just in their line, and they carry themselves with such brilliant dash and desperate valor as to win plaudits from even the enemy. We're sure to win. How we do it will be history—and history that will be nowhere so well recorded as in THE TIMES SUPERB PHOTOGRAPHIC MILITARY AND NAVAL SERIES.

FIFTH—Photographs of battles on land and sea, secured by special artists at the front and from views taken by the official photographers of the U. S. Government for preservation in the archives at Washington. (The history of no other war was ever so brilliantly illustrated).

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.

Los Angeles, July 8, 1898.

CHEAP MONEY. As shown by figures in this department from time to time, the world's production of gold is very large and constantly increasing. The coinage of the mints has been very large. More silver is coined now than was in the days when the coinage was on private account. The national banks furnish a safe and abundant means of increasing the circulating medium whenever there is a legitimate demand for more money. The result is an abundance of currency as good as any in any country on earth. Even so far from the great centers of trade as Los Angeles is, money is plentiful and cheap for all business enterprises that have a firm basis beneath them. For small or moderate loans on short terms, say $1000 to $4000 for one to three years, 6 to 8 per cent. per annum interest above the mortgage tax is all any one has to pay. For large amounts for three to five years, the market is much easier. At this moment a loan is being negotiated for $40,000 at 4 1/2 per cent. net. The property to be pledged for the payment of the money is ample security, and besides the market value it is in the city business, well improved, and the premises rented well.

COMMERCIAL.

Farmers are somewhat prone to complain that business men do not treat them right. There are cases, no doubt, where such complaints are justified. But in many instances the trouble is that farmers do not take pains to learn business conditions. Just at this time being all kinds of crops are in the hands of the market. The market is very hard while to keep large flocks over until next March. But a very poor market is adopted in many cases to get rid of the surplus. They are simply selling to get out of the market, moulting, waiting to set, with the small flocks, not half grown, and chickens; if a few sick ones get mixed in they are let go. The whole conglomeration is shipped in here to sell to people for food. The shippers expect at least $5 a dozen for the old stock and $3 to $4 for the small ones. By the time they reach the consumer, the small ones are worth 10 to 15 cents apiece, and some of them are not fit for food at all, while the average of them are not worth 25 to 35 cents, and the value of a piece of good mutton or beef. Ducks come in the same poor condition, and little turkeys that have hardly ceased moulting, and their mother. No business man would be guilty of the folly of sending such rubbish to market.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

UNDEVELOPED CUBA. Cuba after the war is a subject engaging the thought of many people. So conservative a paper as the American Banker says of it: "No doubt Cuba will offer many opportunities to Americans for making money after the war is over, and society, or at least what is left of it, is restored. The value of the island in length, and its width varies from 30 to 200 miles. It is estimated that four-fifths of it is still in a state of nature, but it does not follow that the undeveloped agricultural expansion are equal to the territory still untouched. A writer, John Ford, who appears to be well informed on the subject, says that must be made for the considerable expense of mountains and grazing land not suitable for agriculture, and that it must be remembered that the tobacco yields more per acre, namely, tobacco, there is but limited room for profitable expansion. The soils most suitable for the growing of tobacco are in the mountainous regions, and the tobacco seems already to be pre-empted. As to sugar, the case seems to be different. Between better methods of culture and the planting of new lands, the possibility of increasing the output of Cuban sugar is large. At present this industry is quite ruined, but in the crop year 1902 the total production was 1,054,214 tons. Mr. Hill of the United States Geological Survey declares that the mountain sides and hill lands of the east are especially favorable for sugar raising, and that a quantity as fine as that of the famous Blue Mountain coffee of Jamaica can be readily grown. He insists that if the island is ever to pass from Spanish hands this will become a large and flourishing industry. Aside from the agricultural opportunities which Cuba will offer, it will furnish a large field for American capital. The Spaniards neglect roads, and are indifferent to the sanitary condition of their cities. Capital will be wanted for road-building, sewer construction and city pavement, railway and electric lines, and the development of these things are sure to follow the establishment of an enlightened government on the island, and particularly so if a large influx of American citizens should take place."

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

Eggs are getting to be very fast. The best were 16 cents yesterday, and good sold at 15 1/2 cents. Most holders wanted 16 for any they had. Receipts are small, and eastern cannot be sold here below 15 cents to the trade. Coldest eggs are worth about that if any profit is to be made. Potatoes go up with eggs this time. Receipts are inadequate to meet the demand. Good Irish are 30 to 35 cents, Early Rose 25 cents to 30, and choice Burbank are 25 cents. Nearly all varieties of fresh fruit are plentiful at very low prices. The same condition prevails in summer varieties of vegetables.

BOY BURGLARS ON TRIAL.
Riased the Contents of Candy and Cracker Boxes.

Paul Humbel, Isaiah and Ed Lindsay, Don Sullivan and Archie Jett, the boy burglars who entered the factory of Bishop & Co. last Sunday, were before Justice Owens yesterday afternoon for hearing. The Lindsay boys were represented by Attorney George F. Phillips, who said he was not ready to proceed with the examination, having only been engaged in the case at noon, so he asked for a continuance. It was finally decided to take the evidence of the prosecution, and let that of the defense go over until this afternoon.

The evidence presented shows that the five boys entered the factory last Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, leaving Elmer Hagg on duty. The boys were caught in the place by a clerk named Dunn, who had occasion to go to the office. He heard them in the store room and gave chase, succeeding in capturing Paul Humbel, while the others escaped for the time being, to be arrested later on by Officers Goodman and Sparks. The amount of goods taken was $30, but the damage done through tearing open boxes, etc., amounts to about $100.

The defense will present its case this afternoon.

THE CHRISTOPHANO CHILDREN.
Sent Out to Beg by Their Parents and Arrested.

The Christophano children, Mollie, John and Louis, were before Judge Owens yesterday afternoon for hearing. Their cases were set for next Monday. Upon the question of bail, Deputy District Attorney Chambers made a motion that they should be set free from home where they would be away from the dictation of the parents, as the prosecution was for the purpose of releasing them from their care. The police allege that the children are sent out to beg and compelled to return each day with at least a certain amount of money, and it is the wish of the prosecuting witness to take the girl from the streets.

Justice Owens did not grant the motion of Mr. Chambers, but put the bail at $1000 each. Hugh Crawford, attorney for the children, was inclined to give the bond, but later said he would bring the children before the Superior Court on a writ of habeas corpus, alleging that the bond was excessive, so the children were returned to the custody of the jailer.

A SAD ERRAND.
C. Reinke Identifies an Unknown Corpse as His Son.

Yesterday morning City Marshal Wilson of Riverside, accompanied by a middle-aged German, Charles Reinke, called at the undertaking parlors of Breese Bros., and asked to see the unknown man who was in the morgue, found dead Wednesday morning in the rear of the Elkhorn saloon at Wilmington and East First streets. The moment the German was shown the young man's remains, he exclaimed:

"My God! it is Otto!"

This was the first clue given as to who the young fellow was, and it proved to be the correct one. Mr. Reinke said the body was that of his oldest son, Otto G. Reinke, aged 20 years, and that he, together with two companions named Jack Meyers and Frank Wright, both of Riverside, left that place last Sunday morning for Los Angeles to spend the Fourth.

Meyers and Wright returned on Tuesday evening, but Otto remained. Meyers told the father that after reaching here they ran across an ex-Riverside man, Marsh Moran, and later met another friend by the name of Manuel Dial. The four were together more or less all the time they were in the city, but on Tuesday Moran, Dial and young Reinke became separated from the other two. As Mr. Reinke said, they were going to the depot on Tuesday afternoon to take the train for home, they went into the Elkhorn saloon, where they saw Otto asleep in a chair. They endeavored to awaken him, but he appeared to be in a stupor and could not be roused. One of the men went through his pockets and says he took Reinke's return ticket from his pocket and gave it to the barkeeper, after which they left for the depot.

Wednesday afternoon the Meyers boy came to C. Reinke and asked him if Otto had returned yet. On being informed that he had not done so, Meyers said: "I think this must be Otto."

At the same time showing him the article in The Times giving a description of the young man found dead in the Elkhorn saloon. Mr. Reinke came here stated and at once identified the body.

Coroner Campbell held an inquest yesterday afternoon, when a report was read from Dr. Macdowan, who performed the autopsy, in which he says he found the kidneys badly diseased, and gave as his belief that death resulted from acute inflammation of the kidneys.

A verdict was rendered in accordance with these facts. Mr. Reinke is a well-to-do orange-grower of Riverside, having come there from Wisconsin about a year ago. The body of the young man was sent to his home last night for interment.

Manders Gets Thirty Days.
Y. Manders, who acknowledged that he had been annoying Capt. Leah Humphreys of the Salvation Army for some time past, will not do so again for thirty days at least. Judge Owens yesterday morning sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 or be confined in the City Jail for thirty days. Manders is undoubtedly "off," but his attentions to the Salvation Army women have been so annoying that complaint had to be made to get relief.
